9. Matters for further discussion from the meeting same morning between the Executive and observers

BMJ EBM paper, which will be published April 8th was endorsed - we need to develop a strategy of spreading this important message. What are the next steps?
GPs should take the lead but there is a need for involving other specialist groups. Focus should be on the future (not on what have been done so far).

Maybe the label "POD" has gone into a blind end? How can we make the message live, – how can we put it further?

Can "POD" be redefined and become a part of our core values (avoid harm...)?

DSAM will make a press pitch this week on the BMJ article.
